Strike Looms In Aluminum Industry Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald personally will take a hand in wage talks with aluminum companies, hoping a settlement there might shorten the steel strike.

McDonald's attempt to win a wage breakthrough in aluminum was considered an unusual step.

Contracts with the "Big Three" aluminum companies — Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser—expire July 31. The firms employ about 58,000 production workers. The steel union represents about 30,500 of them. A strike would shut down about 50 per cent of the country's aluminum production.

The week-old strike in the basic steel industry has idled a half-million workers and shut down about 90 per cent of the nation's steel output. It has brought unemployment to more than 40,000 workers in allied fields — coal, trucking and railroads.

Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the Federal Mediation Service, talked with both sides Monday but said he saw no early solution. More talks were set for today.

McDonald said he would step into the aluminum talks—perhaps today.

The union strategy apparently is (Turn to Page Ten)

Loaded Airliner Noses Over at Boston Port

BOSTON (AP) — An American Airlines plane with 69 aboard nosed over on landing at Logan Airport Monday night but only one slight injury was reported.

Michael Ramos, 22, of the Bronx, N.Y., suffered a bruised knee while leaving the plane from the forward cargo door.

The big DCE-6 coming in from New York skidded 150 feet when its nose gear buckled on landing.

Letter From Community Ambassador in Austria

Our trip across the ocean seemed to take forever as we were anxious to get to Austria and to meet our new families. Even after boarding the ship in Montreal it still seemed impossible that I was really on my way to Europe.

On board the ship the Trip Staff, made up of professors and others chosen by the Counsel on Student Travel worked hard to make sure that there was plenty for us to do all the time. Our days were occupied by going to language classes—Dutch, German, French, Italian, Danish, HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence predicted today House Republicans would swing around soon to support some compromise plan for new tax money.

"I don't think the Republicans are on a complete sit-down on new taxes," the governor told his weekly news conference.

"I think they realize we need new taxes," he said, adding: "The Republican side is just as patriotic as we are in trying to do what they think is best for the commonwealth."

Lawrence made his statement in commenting on a move by the House GOP Monday night. The Republicans refused to sit down for further conferences on a possible compromise tax solution.

Their stand is the result of a collapse last week of a compromise 4 per cent sales tax plan.

The governor, however, said he felt the Philadelphia House delegation, which led a Democratic revolt against the 4 per cent plan, is "perfectly justified" in seeking further aid for the city.

Some House members cited as one of the reasons the tax compromise was never brought to a vote the fact that proposals to provide state aid for Philadelphia General Hospital and other facilities have been bottled up by the Legislature.

Meanwhile, the Legislature plunged into a cooling-off period on taxes, following the GOP action Monday night.

"At this point," said Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, "there are no votes for this (sales) tax program."

It is up to the House Democratic majority to come up with its own tax program and Republicans would then take a look at it, said Johnson.

Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, said he had no immediate plans to seek an alternative (Turn to Page Ten)

Two Spectacular Shows Staged at Canaveral Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A mighty Atlas rocketed its first successful flight in more than five months and a Thor exploded seconds after launch in a spectacular missile show early today.

The Atlas rumbled 5,500 miles down the Atlantic missile range shortly after midnight and a recovery ship plucked its nose cone from the ocean an hour later. Two hours after the Atlas launch, the Thor ruptured in a brilliant blow-up high in the sky.

The Air Force announced that the range safety officer destroyed the Thor when his instruments detected a malfunction. It appeared the missile failed to halt its upward climb in the normal period.

The recovery of the Atlas nose cone off Ascension Island was a first for this missile. Thor-Able simulated warheads have been retrieved from the water in this area, but previous Atlas payloads eluded searchers.

The Air Force will study the cone to see how it withstood the tremendous heat it encountered on re-entry to the earth's atmosphere from a height of more than 300 miles. It is part of a test program to discover the proper nose cone for carrying thermonuclear warheads.

Library Removes Questionable Book

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Shreveport Memorial Library's chief librarian has taken a children's book out of circulation because it has illustrations of white and Negro children fishing and picnicking together.

Miss Inez Boone said the drawings in "The First Book of Fishing" presented as typical scenes that were not typical for the area.

She said she wanted the City Library Board to look the book over before a final decision is made. The book was published in 1952.

Nixon Hoping To Sell Himself As "Peace Monger"

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon hopes to sell himself to the Soviet people as a "peace monger" sincerely dedicated to building lasting friendship with the Soviet government.

Nixon has set this as a prime role of the flying 11-day tour of the Soviet Union he is to begin Thursday.

The vice president, accompanied by newsmen and government aides, will take off Wednesday by jet airplane, a few hours after double checking with President Eisenhower what he should say to the Soviet leaders and their people.

Nixon is reported hoping to demonstrate by his comments and behavior that he is a reasonable man, not "the aggressive" war monger Moscow has pictured him.

But he is also ready to make clear that regardless of how much American leaders and their people want peace, they will never be frightened into a Munich-like deal under Soviet threats.

Nixon has scheduled a Sunday morning meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for what promises to be a sweeping, blunt discussion of the Berlin crisis, the Soviet-American deadlock on disarmament and nuclear testing, and the Soviet campaign for more American trade.

Khrushchev is expected to join Nixon in Friday's formal opening of the big American National Exhibition in Moscow's Sokolniki Park. Khrushchev is also to be Nixon's host at a buffet luncheon Friday. Nixon is to return the compliment at a small American Embassy dinner Saturday.

Nixon and his party will spend three days in the Soviet capital, then move on for quick visits to Leningrad and four industrial cities in Siberia.

Prisoner Chops Way Out of Philly Jail

WASHINGTON (AP) — An alleged bank robber, who chopped his way out of a Philadelphia jail with a screw driver, was added today to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted men.

The FBI identified him as James Francis Jenkins, 37, charged with taking part in the $17,730 holdup of the Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank in Broomall, Pa., last March 4.

He was put on the most wanted list as a replacement for George Cole, wanted for the murder of a San Francisco police officer. Cole was picked up by FBI agents at Des Moines, Iowa, on July 6.

Inspection of Racers Continues Every Evening at Beatty School

Above photo by Times-Mirror Photographer Shattuck, shows the racer that won the third annual Warren area Soap Box Derby, held on McPherson Downs, Saturday, July 12, 1958, built and entered by Manfred Rydholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rydholm, of 17 Sixth street, Youngsville. It is being used this year to publicize the forthcoming Derby Day, next Saturday, July 25th.

With the Soap Box Derby only four days away, Jaycees' and boys of the area are hurriedly making final preparations for this, the biggest event of its kind for boys in the Warren area. Inspection of racer continues every night at Beatty School with Elmer Mellander and his committee working feverishly to see that every boy's racer is inspected prior to the starter's gun at 1 p. m. on Saturday afternoon at the McPherson Street site.

Sponsored by the Jaycees, Warren Times-Mirror, and Dan's Chevrolet, this year's event promises to be another in a long line of successful Soap Box Derby events. Preceded by the Oil-Can Trophy Race between Emory Mahan, one of the county's top drivers, and Leroy Schneck, "Exhausted Rooster" of the Jaycees, the big races will feature Class A and Class B, with the winners in each division vying for the right to represent Warren County in Akron, Ohio, on Derby Day and for a chance

Registration Day At Little Rock's Four High Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — White and Negro high school seniors register today at Little Rock's four public high schools. Police have been alerted for any disturbance.

A segregationist leader denounced a warning by city authorities that protest groups at the schools would be arrested.

The Little Rock School Board plans to open the high schools—closed for a year—under a plan of minimum desegregation by using a state pupil placement law.

Police Chief Gene Smith cautioned that officers would patrol the school areas and "if any gathering occurs which looks as if it might have trouble as its object, disturbers will be arrested and jailed."

Negro students may register at previously all-white Hall and Central high schools if they live in these areas, or transfer to Horace Mann high for Negroes. White pupils in the Mann area may switch to the other schools.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the high schools last September to block integration ordered by federal courts. The law under which he acted was declared unconstitutional by a federal court last month.

Violence marked Little Rock's first integration in 1957, when nine Negroes entered Central. Federal troops were sent in to keep order.

Atomic-Powered Ocean-Going Ship Being Christened

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — The glistering white hull of a knife-nosed ship slid into the water today to become the first atomic-powered passenger-cargo vessel.

At mid-afternoon the wife of the President of the United States strikes a bottle of champagne and speaks the brief part allotted by tradition to ship sponsors: "I christen thee Savannah."

It has been a long time, more than 140 years, since those words were first spoken and a little 320-ton paddle wheel steamer also called Savannah slid into the water.

That ship was the first ship with steam power built for Atlantic crossings. It carried an 89-hour supply of coal and wood to provide steam, and relied heavily on its sails for an initial ocean crossing that took 29 days.

Today's Savannah is steam-powered, too, but the fire will come from nuclear fission. The atomic reactor indirectly will heat the water and create the steam to spin its giant turbines.

In christening the Savannah at the launching today Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower completes a construction ceremony started on May 22, 1958 when Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the vice president, presided at the ceremonial keel laying.

Long Fatigued By High Altitude Is Indisposed Again

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long, obviously tired after a motor trip from El Paso, Tex., and seemingly feeling the effects of Santa Fe's high altitude, called a doctor and nurse to his motel suite late Monday night.

Dr. Richard Landmann of Santa Fe declined to comment on the governor's condition after completing an examination other than to say Long was "apparently alright" and was sleeping.

The doctor told Louisiana state police Lt. Bill Wisner, that he believed Santa Fe's altitude was causing a rapid pulse. New Mexico's state capital is more than 7,000 feet high.

Long said after his arrival late Monday afternoon that he was feeling better. But he walked as though he was very tired and was helped by J. M. (Pete) Menefee, Louisiana, state racing commissioner.

15-Year-Old Killed in Accidental Shooting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A gunshot wound accidentally self-inflicted has taken the life of Joseph G. Moore Jr., 15-year-old son of a prominent Pittsburgh urologist.

The youth died in Presbyterian Hospital Monday, three days after the accident at his Fox Chapel home. He accidentally shot himself in the right temple as he was preparing to go on hunting Friday, a family spokesman said.

The victim was the son of Dr. Joseph G. Moore Sr., staff member of Presbyterian Hospital and an assistant professor of urology at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

WEST LOOKS TO SOVIET UNION FOR A NEW PLAN ON GERMAN REUNIFICATION

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP) — The Western Allies have warned Russia they will break off the Big Four conference if the Soviets continue to insist that East and West Germany negotiate on reunification as equals as the price for a Berlin truce.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter gave the warning to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko during a private luncheon meeting Monday.

Gromyko did not at that time say the Soviet demand for an all-German committee on reunification was unalterable. But subsequently he gave a preliminary rejection to a new Western proposal for reunification negotiations by the Big Four and said the Soviets would not agree to any plan which barred direct negotiations between the two Germanys.

The Western plan called for the East and West Germans to serve as advisers to the Big Four negotiators, with direct negotiations between the two German governments only when the Big Four considered them necessary.

Informants said all the Western ministers were ready to break off the talks almost immediately unless Gromyko softens his position.

Western leaders feel the conference has now reached a real and serious impasse which could lead to a breakdown within a matter of days unless Gromyko backs down.

High Western officials said the West never will agree to the all-German committee because the real Soviet purpose is to open up opportunities for Communism in West Germany.

The West today looked to Gromyko for a new proposal that might break the stalemate and save the conference from failure. Gromyko was assumed to be seeking instructions from Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Some Western officials said Khrushchev's cancellation of his Scandinavian tour amid new Soviet accusations against the Western alliance suggested he might be in no mood to seek a compromise at Geneva. A hardening trend in Soviet policy would not be surprising, these authorities said.

The immediate issue which has now been sharply drawn between the Soviets and Western powers gets close to the heart of their conflicting aims for the future of Germany and may be beyond compromise.

The United States, Britain and France—with the full support of West Germany—insist further negotiations on a German settlement must be conducted primarily (Turn to Page Ten)

Record Peacetime Deficit Is Reported by Government

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government wound up the unhappy fiscal year 1959 on June 30 with a peacetime record deficit of 12½ billion dollars.

The deficit was the fourth and largest turned in by the Eisenhower administration, as against two surpluses. But it was 330 million dollars less than President Eisenhower estimated six months ago in his budget message to Congress.

Eisenhower's predecessor, Harry S. Truman, had three surpluses and five deficits during his term in office, including the $9,449,000,000 deficit for fiscal 1953 at the peak of Korean War spending.

The Treasury and Budget Bureau released without comment Monday these preliminary 1959 fiscal year-end totals: Receipts $68,158,142,030. Expenditures $80,698,342,169. Deficit $12,540,200,139. Eighteen months ago, in his budget message of January 1958, they had been budgeted for.

Ike Sees Chances Dimming Fast For Summit Meeting

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower believes the chances for a summit conference have become steadily dimmer in the last 10 days. He feels Russia's attitude regarding Berlin now is tougher than ever.

This Eisenhower pessimism—based on confidential reports from the Geneva foreign ministers meeting—is known on excellent authority. It embraces his view that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may not even want a summit meeting.

It also is known on high authority that Eisenhower still is dead set against any recognition of Red China. The Communists there still are holding Americans as prisoners.

Eisenhower feels the United States could be represented by no more capable man than Nixon, who leaves Wednesday for Moscow. And the President also believes that Khrushchev, in talks with Nixon, may make some proposal of substance regarding East-West differences. If that should happen, Nixon has been instructed to cable Eisenhower immediately for word on how he should react.

Eisenhower's pessimism regarding a summit meeting has been increasing since the foreign ministers resumed talks in Geneva on July 13. It can be stated authoritatively that on the basis of reports the President received from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter as late as Monday, Eisenhower concluded that the Soviets were being tougher than ever about Berlin.

Kinzua Bridge State Park Bill Approved

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate has approved a measure which would authorize the state to acquire land for a Kinzua Bridge state park.

The bill was approved Monday, 41-4, despite a plea for a delay from the Lawrence administration. It now goes to the House for consideration.

"The feeling of the administration is that we don't have money to do what this bill requires at this time," declared Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader.

The proposal would authorize the secretary of forests and waters to acquire the Kinzua Bridge and as much adjoining ground in McKean County as he deems necessary for the park.

Anti-Reds Say Come, But Expect To Be Exploited

VIENNA (AP) — Communist sponsors of the seventh World Youth Festival claim that 17,000 young people will come here for the big show: July 28-Aug. 4.

But Austria's anti-Communist youth is working hard to reduce the number. And for those who do come, the young Austrians are preparing a counter-propaganda campaign to "unmask the Communists."

This is the first time the Youth Festival has ever been held outside the Iron Curtain. The non-Communist youth organizations here are warning all youth organizations abroad that if they send delegations to the festival they are taking the risk of having them exploited by the Communists. But if they come, the Austrians are going to "enlighten them on the evils of Communism" and give as many Iron Curtains as possible copies of Boris Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago." The book is banned in the Soviet Union.

Already there are two rival newspapers. One is the official organization's "Festival" which in every issue proclaims more delegations signing up to come to Vienna, more big-name sponsors and artists coming from Russia and elsewhere.

The other is the anti-Communist "Voice of the Youth" whose slogan is "Unmask the Communists" and whose bulletins report that more and more youth organizations throughout the world are changing their minds about coming to Vienna. The anti-Communists exult particularly in claims that "large numbers" of Afri-Asian youth groups are thinking twice about coming to the Communist-sponsored festival "after they were enlightened."

North's two spade bids was a calculated risk. If everyone passed the chances were that he had missed a game but his experience told him that everyone wasn't going to pass.

Sure enough, East jumped right to four hearts. Now when it got back to North he went to four spades. East had no means to telling that North's four spade bid was anything but a sacrifice and since East had no particular interest in trying for 11 tricks at hearts he doubled.

South had no trouble making four spades. He simply set up dummy's diamond suit and lost one diamond, one heart and one club.

If North had jumped directly to four spades East still might have doubled, but more likely he would have tried a five-heart bid.

This could be set one trick but the chances are that North would have gone to five spades so fast as to be sure to keep the rubber going. He would have achieved that objective all right but it was much better to make four spades doubled.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP)—Business failures normally decline in June but last month they rose 10 per cent to 1,244, according to a Dun & Bradstreet Inc. survey. The total compared with 1,260 in June last year.

Sharpest increases were in wholesale trade, particularly building materials and food. In retailing, more restaurants failed than in any month since May 1958. The construction industry, however, showed a decline.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Atlantic Refining Co. ordered a 20-cent cut in the price paid for East Texas Crude Oil. The new price is $3.05 a barrel. The reduction wipes out more than half of a 35-cent increase made in January 1957, when crude oil prices were raised on an industry-wide basis.

NEW YORK (AP)—Defense officials awarded contracts totaling nearly 9 million dollars for a so-called "talking satellite" that will carry messages around the globe. First firing of the 500-pound satellite is scheduled within a year. The contracts went to three firms—International Telephone & Telegraph Co., Philco Corp. and Radiation Inc.

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal Electric Corp. received a 42-million-dollar Air Force contract for operation and maintenance of the "Dewline" distant early warning system which guards against the possibility of enemy air attacks via the North Pole. The company is a subsidiary of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Marlon Brando is anxious to do a film about the United Nations.

"But so far we haven't been able to come up with the right script," he said.

The actor became interested in the U.N. during a tour of South-east Asia a couple of years ago.

"I was impressed by the fact that people all over the world had given up good jobs to go to work for peanuts for the United Nations on its technical assistance projects," he recalled.

"I'd like to do a story that would allow people access to information about the U.N., which I feel by and large has been overlooked. But it would have to be a picture vital and interesting enough to make people want to see it. Otherwise, it would be shown only in church basements."

Brando, who has played everything from a rebellious longshoreman to Napoleon, has the role of a wandering guitarist in his 13th film, "The Fugitive Kind," co-starring Anna Magnani and Joanne Woodward.

Marlon, who has trimmed down 15 pounds on a high-protein diet, still retains a glacial silence about affairs. However, during a short rehearsal break in his dressing room he was quite willing to talk about the international situation. It is much on his mind.

For the benefit of his fans, here are his views:

"I think that, sooner or later, we are bound to have a world federation of states—a world government. Economic facts can't be ignored much longer.

"The thing that I hate most—that frightens me most—is the indifference and blind acceptance of the destructive impulses in people.

"When people cannot find a way somehow to resolve their own innate aggressiveness then they combine with other individuals, groups and movements and attack a symbol they call the enemy."

"But the enemy is simply their own unconscious projections symbolized by a racial, religious or economic issue. Or they may simply be against people with red hair or people who are cruel to their goldfish."

The result, Brando feels, is war, if no way is found to channel these mass hostilities safely.

But he believes the atom bomb is the world's best hope for peace:

"If a man—or a statesman—feels that something of himself will live on—his principles or his children—he is willing to die for the preservation of what he believes in."

"But when he knows that he will die and nothing will be left—no one will remain to mourn his sacrifice, appreciate his heroism or carry on his principles—then he is bound to give a second thought about going to war."

"That is the singular change the atom bomb has made."

MANY TROUT DIE

An estimated 75 of 3,200 trout stocked in Woodcock Creek near Titusville died recently, apparently because of high water temperatures. The load of fish were placed in the creek that morning after they had been rejected for north central waters because of the extremely low water stages. Evidence of dead were found in only three of 10 stocking areas.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Closing sessions of last week's fall fashion showings by New York designers resembled a meeting of the United Nations, as 25 women from foreign consulates and three Moscow fashion experts viewed American styles.

The consular ladies were present at the invitation of Leonard and Andrew Arkin, father-and-son team presenting a group of typically American, moderately-priced fashions. A number appeared in native dress, and all applauded the smart, wearable clothes. Their favorite of the Arkin collection was a black broadcloth cocktail dress, cut on slender lines, with plunging back neckline and a satin belt.

All those present appeared captivated by the children's fashions shown by Helen Lee, featuring pint-sized school and party dresses worn by small glamor girls, aged four to eight. A favorite of this group was a red calico smock over a black cotton full-skirted dress, for the smart kindergarten.

Suzy Perette, who often sells as many as 10,000 copies of a single dress, showed a group of the top fashions already ordered in volume by store buyers throughout the country. Best-sellers included: A plaid sheer wool dress with sweater to top and full-skirt; a black jersey sheath with square neck, long sleeves and a wide leather belt; a dress and jacket in violet wool jersey; and a dress-and-jacket outfit in dark green and red-checked wool, with waist-length jacket and scarf neckline.

"We have better hamburgers in Moscow," said Clara Pobedinskaya, young Russian fashion designer, sampling America's favorite food during a recent luncheon fashion show at a plush Fifth avenue hotel.

"At home we would flavor them with onions and garlic, and our meat would not taste so obviously frozen," she added.

Clara is in New York in connection with the Moscow exhibit at the Coliseum, where a number of her fashion designs are shown. She is designer for Moscow's leading department store, where she says they have a fashion show almost every day, attended often by husbands as well as wives.

During luncheon, where she was a guest at the closing session of the New York Dress Institute's National Press Week showings of fall fashions, Clara surveyed the American clothes with a wary eye and pronounced them "very pleasant."

Neither she nor either of her two companions, designer Lydia Danilina and Alexi Bubichev, director of the all union house of fashion in Moscow, would exhibit any enthusiasm for the American fashions shown. Grimly, they refused to be impressed.

All spoke through an interpreter, and insisted Moscow fashions were "much the same."

Clara said some things about American fashions were considered bad taste in Russia — one was the custom of wearing daytime clothes trimmed with fur, and the other was the sight of elderly women in shorts.

When told that American models, such as the ones pirouetting on the runway during luncheon, earned $50 an hour, Clara choked on her inferior American hamburger.

"SAFETY MAKES SENSE"
"Safety Makes sense!"
This is the theme of the 16th annual National Farm Safety Week currently being observed.
The special week, proclaimed by President Eisenhower, is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
The purpose of the observance, says the Council, is to promote safety and accident prevention on American farms—in the field, in the home and on the highway.
Leading farm organizations are endorsing the seven-day safety campaign.
Each year more than 12,000 farm residents are killed in accidents and another million are injured. There are more accidental deaths in farming than in any other major American industry.
The National Safety Council said it is urging everyone with an interest in the welfare of farm residents to participate in this year's National Farm Safety Week.
"Safety is something you can't think about just one week out of the year," the Council said. "But if everyone concentrates on it during Farm Safety Week—and then practices safety the year 'round, there's bound to be a drop in accidents," it added.

LIFTING THE CURFEW
An editorial from the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: As FAR as Pittsburghers are concerned, the Senate in Harrisburg could hardly have acted at a more appropriate time in voting, as it did yesterday, to lift the seven p. m. curfew on Sunday baseball. This past weekend, for the second consecutive Sunday at Forbes Field, the Pirates suffered because of the curfew.
The second game of the doubleheader on Sunday, July 12, was suspended in the ninth inning, with the Pirates then leading St. Louis by 5 to 4. This past Sunday, the second game was called after 2½ innings, with the Pirates then leading by 1 to 0. In that instance, the game proved no more than an exercise for the players, because not enough of it was played to qualify it even as a suspended contest.
The bill now passed by the Senate permits completion of a Sunday game begun before five p. m., in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and certain other communities. The five o'clock provision would not help in avoiding last Sunday's experience, for then the second game did not begin until after six. But in normal circumstances the Senate's bill will prove most satisfactory.
That bill now goes to the House, which earlier had passed a similar measure, for concurrence in amending. It is the earnest hope of thousands of baseball fans that the House will lose no time in giving Pennsylvania the benefit of this sensible legislation.

WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's visit to the Soviet Union and his interview with Premier Nikita Khrushchev probably won't solve anything. It would be too much to expect. After all, it's billed as a goodwill tour.
If there is any solution of anything it almost certainly will have to come from Khrushchev, not from Nixon. Newsmen were told Monday Nixon is bearing no special message from President Eisenhower.
And Nixon on his own doesn't have the authority to deal with the Soviet leader as Eisenhower could if the two met later in a summit conference. But Khrushchev can suit himself on what he says or does.
Judging from what newsmen were told the vice president is going to be polite but firm. He is going to say the United States will not back up on Berlin.
But this is hardly news, since Eisenhower has already said the same thing a number of times. It's possible that Khrushchev, using bait to get Eisenhower into a summit conference, might make some concessions to Nixon.
It's hardly likely unless the performance of Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at Geneva all these weeks has been a stall to kill time until Khrushchev, meeting Nixon, could propose a deal on Berlin.
Gromyko, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, and the foreign ministers of Britain and France have been meeting, with a brief interval, since May 11 at Geneva on the future of Berlin.
Khrushchev has demanded the allies get their troops out of the German city. All these weeks of talk have been a kind of ring-around-the-rosy dance, getting nowhere, solving nothing.
While Nixon is with Khrushchev, newsmen were told, he will try to turn the meeting into a far-ranging review of such East-West issues as Berlin, disarmament, atomic testing and trade.
Although Eisenhower has laid down a condition to be met before he agrees to meet Khrushchev—there must be some progress at Geneva—Khrushchev has shown no willingness to have the meeting at the cost of any major Soviet concession.
There is no reason to think from his unbending attitude so far — that he will melt at the sight of Nixon. But, since he is mercurial and unpredictable, it's easy to guess how and why he might do one of two things.
1. He has shown contempt for any meeting of foreign ministers to deal with major problems. He considers it a waste of time. In his view only the top men can really settle anything.
That's why he says he wants a summit meeting. Just to prove that big men together can solve things—and that the foreign ministers' meeting is eyewash — he might propose some deals to Nixon for relay to Eisenhower.
That is, if he considers Nixon big enough to do business with at all.
2. If he doesn't, then he may talk tough turkey to the vice president, with the suggestion that if Eisenhower wants to find East-West answers the place to look for them is at a meeting with Khrushchev.
So—as Nixon starts out for his tour Wednesday, he may be full of hope for something good. But since he is a political realist, he can hardly come back disappointed if all Khrushchev says is "hello."

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★
Upward Trend Is Noted In Social Security Rates
BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The House Ways and Means Committee has scheduled five days of hearings on hospitalization and medical care for the aged.
This is about the only social security legislation likely to receive any consideration at this session of Congress, although there are now 108 separate social security bills now before the legislature. It's a popular political subject. Congressmen get a lot of mileage out of proposing greater benefits for the old folks and for people on public assistance. That's why social security legislation gets amended some way at least once every two years.
The Eisenhower administration has no plans of its own before Congress now on expanding the social security system. But when Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming testified before the Ways and Means Committee, he will almost have to disclose the administration's position on pending bills.
From other sources outside of Congress, proposals for expanding social security are numerous. Labor organizations are all for it. Representative James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) has an omnibus bill which goes as far as any Congressional plan.

CHARACTERISTIC OF ALL THESE IDEAS is a program put forward by Dr. Wilbur Cohen, formerly with the Social Security Administration, now with the University of Michigan. He calls for doubling average monthly benefits by 50 per cent before 1970.
With all this in the wind, it is only fair to sit back and ask, "Where is social security going?"
Many alarmists view with some concern the fact that 15 per cent of all personal income is now being paid for "nonwork." Economists call them "transfer payments." They include not only social security benefits, but life insurance, private pensions, dividends, interest and rents. To the extent that payments for "nonwork" are bad, it must be recognized that dividends, interest and rents are part of the capitalistic system, here to stay.
Furthermore, says William L. Mitchell, commissioner of Social Security, "There is now bipartisan and nonpartisan acceptance of the idea that social security is also here to stay, and that the benefit rates will have to be geared to a dynamic economy."
MANY PEOPLE HAVE NOT STOPPED TO THINK how the present social security system has grown from a modest start. There was no change in the rate from 1939 to 1950. Since then benefits have been increased over 100 per cent.
The rise may not be as rapid in the future as in the past, but the trend is upward, Commissioner Mitchell believes.
There have been changes in the national concept of what constitutes well-being. Many things that used to be considered luxuries are now considered necessities. This is reflected in acceptance of public assistance payments. Maintenance of income for the unemployed is now considered a good thing not only for the people who get the benefits, but for the stability of the national economy and business in general.
THE ONLY THING THE COUNTRY MUST BE careful about, says Commissioner Mitchell, is that "We must be sure the system is not designed to make people entirely dependent on social security. We must not destroy the incentives for home ownership, insurance and savings."
So far, the U. S. social security system, has not done that. It has, on the other hand, contributed to greater savings, more private insurance and more home ownership.

ARTHRITIC FEET
Rheumatoid arthritis of the feet is most painful, especially when the metatarsal joints are stiff and swollen. Distress is more severe than that from arch trouble because the joints are inflamed and tender to the touch. Standing is agonizing and the victim walks as tho stepping on spikes.
All joints of the feet, including the ankle, may be involved. Because rheumatoid arthritis is a generalized disease, other parts of the body are affected. As a result the corticosteroids are recommended along with a well balanced, nourishing diet.
Bed rest may be needed because walking is painful and may aggravate inflammation of the joints. A foot rest or board should be placed at the end of the bed to keep the feet at right angles to the legs to prevent deformities. This also will help keep the disabled feet from getting weak and stiffened in a drooped position. Heat is soothing and gentle manipulation keeps the joints limber and improves circulation.
More activity is recommended when acute inflammation subsides. A whirlpool bath and other forms of physical therapy are helpful.
The best shoes are those with a firm sole and a stiff counter. Pads may be needed, especially when the metatarsal joints remain puffy or knobby. Walking may become a major problem when deformities persist and corns and calluses develop over the knobby growths.
Several surgical procedures have been devised to smooth out the uneven parts, so that walking becomes more comfortable.
A leaflet on rheumatoid arthritis will be sent by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.
TOMORROW: Fatigue in children.

No, but surgery is suggested.

Business Mirror
By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — It's harder and costlier now to get the money to build a house or buy a car or run your business. The same goes for running the government or building a school where you live. And it's also true if you want a loan from your banker to take care of pressing and maybe unexpected bills.
It means that maybe some homes won't be built and some car purchases will be put off and some businesses will wait before starting or expanding.
The U. S. Treasury has to pay the higher price for money because it has payrolls and other obligations to meet. But some school boards and local governments will put off improvements they'd like to make. And some common stock buffs fear that the higher yields on bonds now may lead you out of the common stock market into the bond market.
How serious will all this be to the economy? Will it throttle a healthy growth? Or will it in the long run stave off more inflation — which to most of us simply means will it keep prices from taking off again on a sprint instead of just a slow creeping pace?
In the financial marts the visible effects of tight money are plain. The U. S. Treasury has to pay 4½ per cent on 12½ month notes to keep holders of maturing issues from demanding cash. It's the highest rate since 1928. Only a little while back Uncle Sam could get that kind of money for 2 per cent.

Much To Be Learned At Flower Workshop

Warren Garden Club committees have been eagerly planning for the July 24th Workshop to be held in the YWCA activities building, 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., with luncheon included in the day's events.

The committee is both proud and pleased to be able to introduce Mrs. Emily Stuebing, of Pittsburgh, as instructor for the day's clinic. Mrs. Stuebing believes in having fun while learning, and, whether she is giving a light-hearted talk on how to decorate the house and set tables for a party, or teaching a class her zest and humor make the occasion fun for all.

While she instructs the audience, she gives it knowledge which comes from years of experience with a subject in which she is deeply interested and for which she has an inborn talent.

Mrs. Stuebing has lectured from New York to Florida, New Jersey to Nebraska, going to some of the clubs as many as seven times. She will bring to Warren flower fanciers a wealth of new ideas for the hostess, for flower show schools, for the arranger, and for the judge.

Following her day in Warren, she will go to Chautauqua to teach a course in Flower Arranging, 9:00 a. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and on Tuesday will be guest lecturer in Smith-Wilkes Hall on the topic "New Trends in Flower Arranging". Area enthusiasts will want to attend these sessions, also, for further information on flower arranging.

The Workshop, open to the public for a small fee, will prove an invaluable experience for all interested in learning more about flower arranging, what judges look for in entries, what materials to use for background and color, and how to achieve design. Those wishing to work along with Mrs. Stuebing should bring flowers and containers, but anyone interested may spectate and learn.

The Garden Club committee reminds that tickets may be had at the B and B Smoke Shop and United Cigar Store, also at the YW on Friday prior to the Workshop.

MRS. DONALD LLOYD SARGENT

First Methodist church of Corry was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, pink roses, and blue bachelor buttons for the double ring wedding of Barbara Ellen Ross, of Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ross of Corry RD 4, and Donald Lloyd Sargent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sargent, 20 Grove street, Corry.

The young couple exchanged marriage vows in a candlelight ceremony performed at 7:30 p. m. July 18 by the Rev. George Myers. Wedding music was provided by Barbara Roberts, with Marlene McIntyre as vocalist.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful full-length gown of pure silk embroidered organza over taffeta, fashioned with an empire bodice, scoop neckline, brief sleeves and matching mitts. The bouffant skirt had a back pouff, banded and draped above a chapel sweep.

Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a half-hat styled of lace and decorated with sequins and pearls. The white Bible she carried, a gift of the bridegroom, had a top arrangement of deep pink sweetheart roses and markers.

As maid of honor, Helen Bull was gowned in heather blue silk organza over net and taffeta and carried a cascade of blue and white majestic daisies. Her gown was fashioned along princess lines, with a neckline bow in the back and streamers extending to the hemline. With it she wore a heart-shaped half-hat, with circular veil of matching color.

Similarly gowned, in the same shade, were the bridesmaids, Frances and Carol Ross, sisters of the bride. Their bouquets were the same as the maid of honor's.

The bridegroom had his brother, Robert Sargent, as best man, ushering were Robert Follett and Leo Pfeiffer.

The bride's mother chose a spun-rayon maize sheath, complemented with white accessories and white gladioli corsage. Mrs. Sargent's sheath was of beige silk organza over embroidered taffeta, with matching hat and accessories, and yellow rose corsage. Grandmothers of the couple were favored with pink carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlors, Nancy Prather managing the guest book. Aides were Mrs. Beulah Wohlmut, Mrs. Lora Thomas, Terry Sollock, JoAnn Maley, Ardeth and Mary Bull. Serving the bridal table, which was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated in blue and flanked by white candles, were Gloria, Rodney and Roger Watrous and Nancy TeWinkle.

Out of town guests were from Cleveland, Lakewood and Elyria, O.; Titusville, Warren, Erie, Shippensburg, West Hickory, Spartansburg, Clymer, Union City, Columbus and Waterford.

When the couple left for a honeymoon through southern states, the bride was wearing a light blue daron and cotton dress, matching short-sleeved cardigan, white accessories and corsage of deep pink sweetheart roses.

After August 3, the couple will reside at 21 Grove street, Corry. Both graduates of Corry Area High School, she is employed by New Process Company, Warren; he, in the offices of Corry-Jamestown Manufacturing Company.

Hostesses who have honored the bride-elect were JoAnn Maley, Helen Bull, and neighbors. The rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sargent.

Lutz, of Evans City, was born 110 days before the completion of the Drake well. For over 50 years he was active as a driller and contractor in the Pennsylvania oil fields. Mr. Lutz is still active despite the fact he will be 100 years old on August 15. The well, named for its driller, J. L. Grandin, is actually the industry's second well, begun just four days after Drake's was completed. In spite of the fact that it was drilled in the middle of an oil spring (still flowing) the well came in dry. Since then, the oil industry has been plagued by nearly half a million dry holes. In 1957, despite modern knowledge and techniques, private capital spent $2.21 billion in unproductive drilling in the United States alone! The Tidoute ceremony will pay tribute to all the men who have failed in their attempts to drill for oil. Centennial spokesmen said. In addition to Mr. Lutz, officials at the 11:00 a. m. ceremony will include Dr. S. K. Stevens, executive director, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and the following officials of Oil Centennial, Inc.: J. Paul Jones, chairman of the board; Ned H. Dearborn, president; Harry A. Logan, Jr., Warren, chairman of the Oil Industry Division; W. F. Clinger, Warren chairman of the Dry Hole Marker Committee, and Ernest C. Miller, Warren, historian.

Marines Launch
Mock Attack on Erie Peninsula

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Seven Navy ships with some 1,200 combat-ready Marines aboard dropped anchor at Erie Monday night and stood by for a mock sea, air and ground attack on Presque Isle Peninsula. The flotilla, which arrived from Cleveland, is taking part in "Operation Inland Seas," which celebrates the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Its ships were opened for public inspection today. With the Leathernecks spearheading the attack, the amphibious operation is scheduled to come off Wednesday afternoon and last about two hours. A path through simulated mine fields and other obstacles will be cleared by Frogmen the Navy's underwater demolition experts. Marine and Naval aircraft will back up the attack with bombing and strafing missions. Ten Marine helicopters, each able to transport 10 fully-equipped Leathernecks, will take off from simulated carriers at Port Erie Airport and land at the battlefield. The operation is being held at various ports on the Great Lakes.

Senate Considers Bills To Replace
Obscenity Laws

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House is considering two administration-backed bills to replace the obscenity law recently declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court. A second bill was introduced on Monday to supplement one submitted earlier. It has already advanced to third reading in the House. The Supreme Court ruled that the previous law was vague in not defining the meaning of the word obscenity. Both of the administration proposals define obscene as "that which the average persons, applying contemporary community standards, has as its dominant theme, taken as a whole, an appeal to prurient interest." The bill now at the third-reading stage would prohibit obscene exhibitions in motion pictures and on the stage. The new legislation extends the prohibition to the preparation, sale, distribution and exhibition of obscene literature, magazines, photographs and pamphlets. More U. S. women are marrying at age 18 than at any other age today.

—WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE—
Simplest Reducing Plan Yet: Take off Into Space

BY DELVINA WHEELDON
(Written for NEA Service)
CINCINNATI, Ohio — (NEA) — A free-floating female, that's me. What many women aspire to, losing a little weight, I went all the way with—into weightlessness itself. It was done at the Wright Air Development Center near Dayton, Ohio, where the aeromedical laboratory doctors, technicians, and specialists are studying the effects of space on man. The human body, geared for one kind of environment, is being tested there in a series of experiments to accustom it to another environment, many parts of which are known to be hostile. At the Wright center, one can be made weightless, frictionless, can be made to suffer from buffeting, high heat ranges, isolated silence, ear-piercing sounds, and take many times the normal pull of gravity. I tried, or sampled, them all as one of the unofficial "guinea pigs." Maybe because women worry so much about increasing pounds the phenomenon of weightlessness intrigued me most. At Wright, they have a specially rigged transport plane. The entire rear area is peddled; floor, sides and ceiling. The principle used is to first dive the plane into a steep angle, losing about 2,000 feet, then pull up into a gentle, outside loop. They call it a "parabolic arc." Those who are going to be weightless start by lying prone at the extreme rear of the plane. When the aircraft goes into the Author Delvina Wheeldon floats weightless in the air inside a special test plane at Wright Air Development Center. Second woman to experience weightlessness in the U.S., she's a broadcaster and lecturer specializing in air and space subjects.

first stage of the arc you push off gently. Then, surprisingly, out you go in space within the capsule of the fuselage. All motions of the individual become exaggerated. A snap of the fingers will put you into a roll. You can have the impression of being a circus gymnast, turning easily over and over in a succession of backflips. Above all, I learned not to push off too hard. On one of the 24 times I went through the exercise, I found myself going the full length of the "Look Ma, no hands"—in a power glide! My longest period of weightlessness was 21 seconds. The important thing these tests teach the potential space man is that he must relearn normal jobs. When I tried to put a screwdriver to a screwhead, I was bounced away every time I applied pressure. All I can say is that if they have time-and-a-half for repair work in outer space, everyone will get rich. It takes so long to do some of the simplest things. First off, the repairman will have to get hooked to whatever he's working on, or he might bounce away and float alongside the job, unable to get back at it. Of course, there's another way to look at it. He can drop any one of his tools and it'll stay right there. Some ways space is pretty handy. There were no electrodes hooked to me, but I could detect no vital changes other than being a little tired which was natural for the excitement of something new to me. My real reason for wanting to sample some of the trappings of space is common to most women, I think. Everywhere we read about projects for "MAN in space," "MANNED space capsule," and "MANNED space stations." After my experience I asked a couple of the aeromedical laboratory specialists about the chances of women in space. One of them looked very thoughtful, as scientist types should in considering all sides of a question. "I think outer space without women," he said, "would be much less interesting than it could be." Diplomatic answer? Well maybe. Scientific conclusion? Certainly. Logical? Absolutely.

Letter From
Each meal consisted of 7 courses, one of which was either pizza or spaghetti and ended with a nutmeg flavored ice cream. The waiters soon learned about figure-conscious American girls as we turned down (reluctantly) many goodies. The experimenters traveled below the water line in the tourist class although there were no distinctions made on board so that we had the run of the ship. There were 2 swimming pools, 2 lounges, a music room, 3 bars, and a ball room. Our rooms were in the very front of the ship so we could really feel the ship rolling—although we were very lucky and didn't have any rough weather. On Saturday, July 11, we were very excited to see land again after 8 days. On Sunday we were all up early to go through the British Immigration authorities so that we could get off and see a little of Southampton. Cameras in hand and with strange money in our pocketbooks we began our walk through the town. Some of the buildings were old and very rugged while others were new and beautiful. As we had to get back to the boat we only had time to see a small part of the picturesque countryside. At 5:30 on Monday morning we were awakened and realized that we were at last in Le Havre. After standing in line for what seemed like hours we got our passports stamped by the French Immigration officials and were allowed to go ashore. The boat train to Paris took us through lovely French countryside. In Paris we had some time to wander along the Champs Elysee, stopping for our first meal in Europe. With the 3 other groups going to Austria we boarded the train. Our couchettes were compartments with 6 bunks so we could get some sleep although we were being constantly awakened by passport inspectors, customs officials and conductors. In Salzburg we stopped for three hours and had our first Austrian meal consisting of soup, wiener-schnitzel, potatoes and salad—a typical meal we were told. We gathered our luggage and began the last leg of our trip to Bruck. Soon we began to see the foothills of the Alps and caught fleeting glimpses of a few of Austria's famous castles. All of us were beginning to become a little nervous and excited about our families. In my next letter you will hear about our arrival in Bruck. Sincerely,
Gayle Ann Wyman

"NEVER TAKE COUNSEL OF YOUR FEARS"
—Author's Name Below—
Fear is a bad adviser, particularly when your health is concerned. Some people are afraid to consult a physician when sick. They fear they may have a serious trouble and are afraid to find out the truth. A physician can soon relieve fear, by accurately diagnosing the cause of the sickness, which then probably can be soon cured. Even if the sickness were one of the few incurables, an early diagnosis and proper treatment would make it easier to live an almost normal life. Depend on your physician and the medicine he will prescribe.

Merchants Prove Hard Customer Against 12 to 5 Winning Knights

A "much improved" 400 Block nine gave Black Knights of Betts a hard time for five innings Monday night, but faded in later innings as the gallant Knights galloped by 12-5.

The City Softball loop game was played on State Hospital diamond. Sturdevant was on the mound for the Traders, Berdine for the castle dwellers.

Merchants marked first scoring on the books, Nick Denardi with a single followed by Kane's home run hit to center.

Knights went to war, pushing one run in on a walk and two back-to-back singles. Boonie Sturdevant then knuckled down to retire remaining Knight batters.

Both combines matched singletons in second, 400's coming on a walk and two consecutive errors by Betts. Steel men garnered their run on a walk, an error and Hud Berdine's one sacker.

Held scoreless in the third, Merchants watched the Black Knights grab the lead for the first time Betts jumped to a 4-3 lead when Cummings singled, and two miscues aided the Knight runner.

Merchants weren't out to give up an early game. The 400 Block sellers battled back in the fourth inning to climb into a 5-4 lead. A walk and pitcher Sturdevant's single put the two runners on base, and a long fly-out scored both.

Pete Molinaro led Betts' half of the fourth with a one-base hit, coming home on Bob Schenck and Hud Berdine's singles. Game remained deadlocked until sixth when Betts pulled ahead on six big tallies.

Bucs Have Chance To Close Gap in Philly Tilt Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The pennant-starved Pittsburgh Pirates hope to whet their appetites at the expense of the cellar-dwelling Philadelphia Phillies.

The Bucs meet their state rivals tonight in two games one a suspended contest, at Forbes Field with a chance of gaining at least a half game on the league-leading San Francisco Giants.

Pittsburgh is virtually tied with Milwaukee for third place, 3½ games back.

Before the regular game, the suspended contest will be played with the Bucs leading 6-4 in the eighth inning. Roy Face will take over where he left off May 10, hoping to save a victory for Harvey Haddix.

In the other contest, Bob Friend (4-11) will seek his 100th victory in the major leagues. That one has eluded him since he picked No. 99 against Chicago July 4. He will (7-6).

Pittsburgh closes out its current home stand Wednesday night against the Phils. The Bucs won eight of the first 11 games after returning home, but now show losses in three of their last four contests.

Ailing Mrs. Moore May Hold Up Fight

MONTREAL (AP) — The Archie Moore - Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title bout, scheduled for July 29, may be postponed again because of sudden turn for the worse in the condition of Mrs. Moore, ill in San Diego, Calif.

Moore left for San Diego Monday. Jack Kearns, Moore's manager, said he did not plan to ask another postponement pending word from Moore in San Diego. The fight originally was scheduled for July 15, but postponed when Moore developed a bruised heel.

Mrs. Moore underwent surgery for a mastoid.

Zach Wheat In Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Zach Wheat, famed outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers from 1909 through 1926, was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame Monday.

"This is one of the great moments of my life," declared Wheat, now 71, as he received a plaque from Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Kansas City Athletics played to a 5-5 tie in the annual exhibition game. It was called after six innings because of rain.

Vargas, 27, will marry Mary Taborez, 22, of Salt Lake City, Utah, who now resides in San Francisco.

Machen, who now fights out of Portland, and Vargas will meet in a 10-round in the arena of the Oregon Centennial Exposition in Portland. The bout will be televised nationally.

Machen has 26 victories, one draw and one loss — that to world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden.

Vargas, with a less spectacular record of five losses and 21 victories, is seeking a fight in Sweden this fall with Johansson.

'Worst Ball Park in America' Antonelli Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Worst ball park in America" declared pitcher Johnny Antonelli of the San Francisco Giants Monday, speaking of the Giants' temporary home, Seals Stadium.

Antonelli was bitter because the Los Angeles Dodgers had just beaten him 3-2 in Seals Stadium on a pair of home runs.

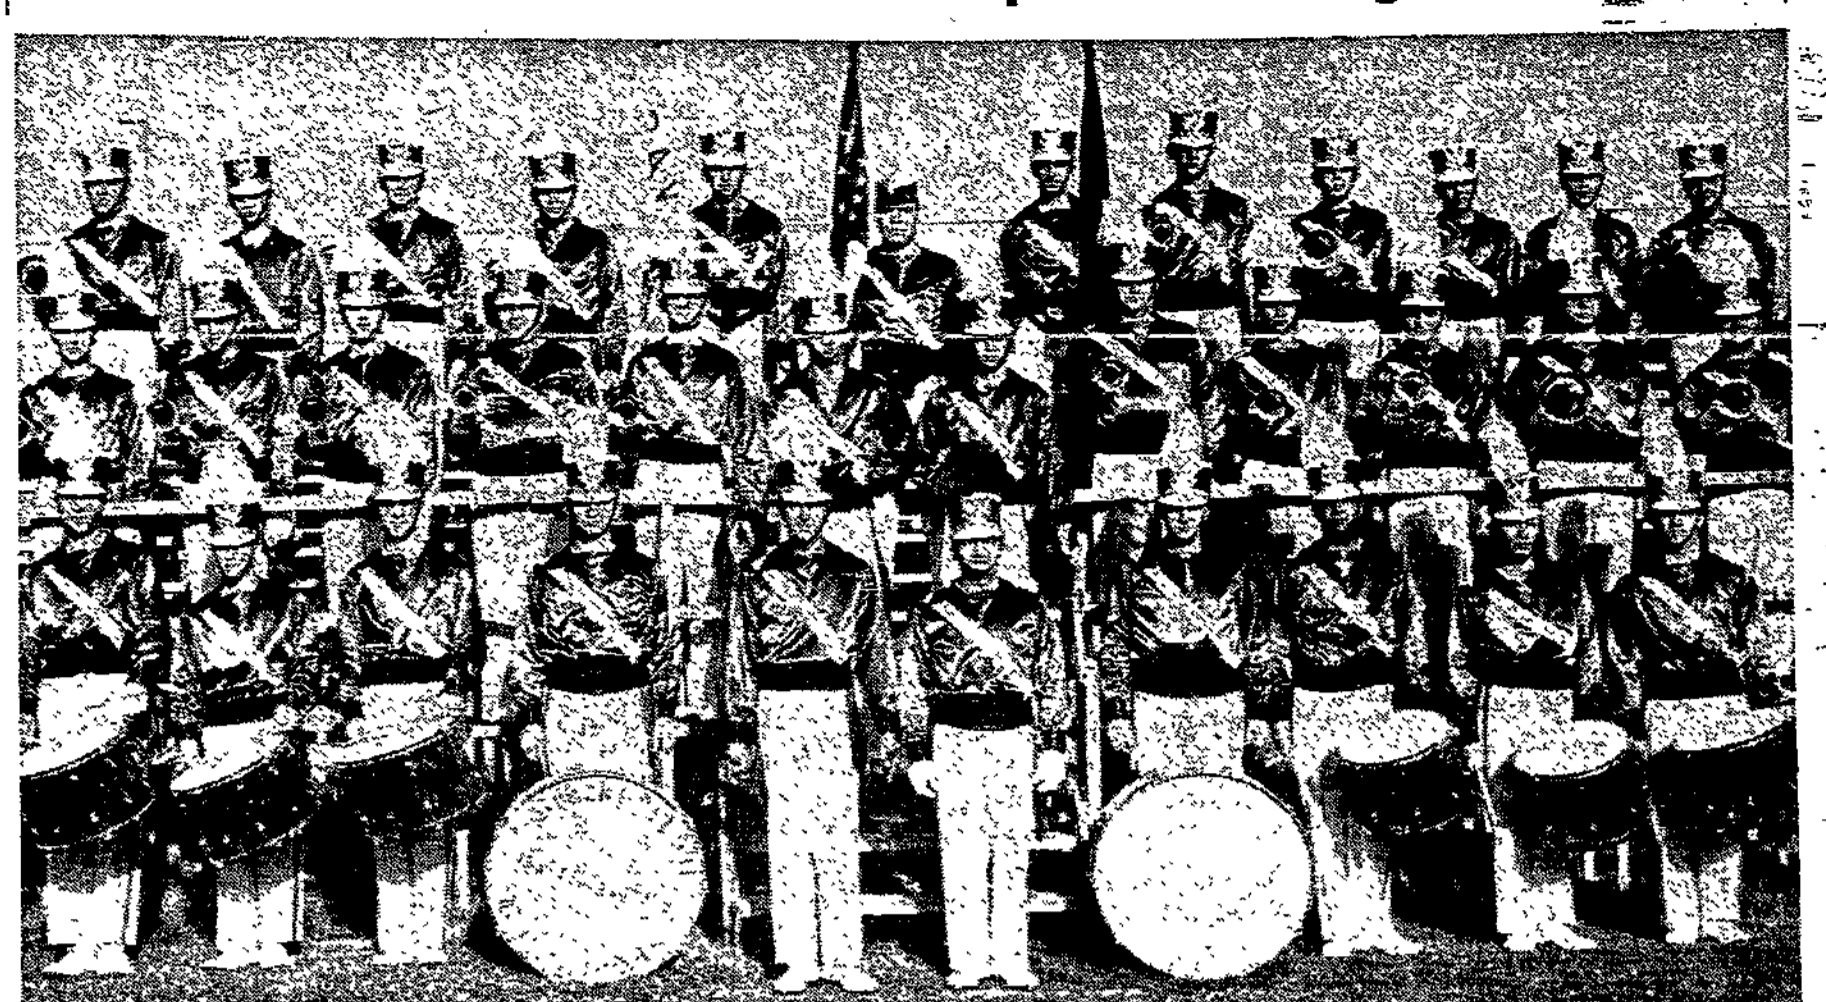

"I don't mind losing, well, not much, but to lose this way is ... dammit, this park is a disgrace," the left-hander exploded in the dressing room.

"Two high fly balls, and they're carried right over the screen."

Rochester Cavaliers To Compete Here August 1st

A distinguished outfit, with snappy uniforms, and team spirit, the Cavaliers, tri-county drum corps of Rochester, N. Y., will enter the contest here on August first. A comparatively new organization, it is an offspring of the Brockport-Batavia Cavaliers, and many members have been competing in events since the early 1940's.

Some have played with the Brockport Grenadiers, Batavia Cavaliers, Summerville Shoremen, and Hilton Crusaders, and some travel over a hundred miles to attend rehearsals. Area citizens are urged to get their tickets soon, and see this crack corps in action.

Decked Four Times, Gomes Rallies For Junior Lightweight Verdict

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Courageous Harold Gomes said today he would like a neutral site rematch with Paul Jergensen whom he beat for the world junior lightweight championship.

Gomes, knocked down four times Monday night by his Port Arthur, Tex., opponent, rallied his forces to gain a unanimous 15-round decision at Pierce Memorial Field.

"I'd be glad to fight him again anywhere but in Texas," the weary Gomes said afterward. "I would prefer a neutral site, not in Rhode Island," added

Bums Move In To Senate Kills JP, Alderman Salary Amendment 36-11

By HAROLD V. STREETER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — You just don't call them "bums" this season. Particularly, not in San Francisco.

The transplanted Brooklyn Dodgers, in their 1958 debut at Los Angeles, bowed 16 times while winning only six against their former bitter rivals of the Polo Grounds, the Giants.

Today Los Angeles was within 1½ games of first place San Francisco in the National League after winning a big one Monday, 3-2, from Giant ace Johnny Antonelli. And the season standing between the clubs to date is Los Angeles 8 victories, San Francisco 7.

Don Drysdale said after his victorious 4-hitter he saw no reason why the Dodgers can't take it all.

"We're as good as anyone else," the sidearming fast ball artist boasted while mulling over his 12th victory against six losses.

"And we now will have a three-week home advantage."

The Dodgers head south for the Coliseum after today's game in San Francisco.

Senate Kills JP, Alderman Salary Amendment 36-11

HARRISBURG (AP) — A controversial proposal to put alderman and justices of the peace on a salary basis and give the money they collect to the county has been solidly defeated in the Senate.

The proposed amendment to the State Constitution was voted down Monday, 36-11. A vote of 26 is required to pass Senate legislation.

A proposed amendment to allow any future governor to succeed himself for one additional term was approved, 34-14.

The two bills were among a series of changes recommended by the State Constitutional Revision Commission. Of the 10 proposals considered, seven were passed and sent to the House and three were defeated.

The other two defeated measures would have consolidated the courts of Philadelphia and reduced the number of magistrates in that city. They were defeated by votes of 26-21 and 40-7, respectively.

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader from Philadelphia told his colleagues that none of the 10 proposed changes was of any importance.

Rosburg Wins Utah Open by One Stroke

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., sank an eight-foot putt on the 18th hole without even bothering to look over the terrain and won the $7,500 Utah Open golf tournament by one stroke Monday.

He had been missing putts all day when he took time to calculate the lay of the land so he didn't see much sense in wasting time on his final shot, Rosburg said.

Ed Porkey Oliver of Denver started the final 18 holes one stroke behind Rosburg but was two strokes ahead until the 17th. He won second-place money with a 72-hole total of 276.

Rosburg's score was 275, 13 under par.

National Open champion Billy Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., finished third with 277.

Queen Having Busy Day at Edmonton, Alta.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II will fly straight home at the end of her Canadian tour instead of returning in the royal yacht Britannia, Buckingham Palace reported today.

The announcement followed the queen's round of medical consultations. She has suffered an upset stomach and British papers are expressing anxiety that the 15,000-mile tour is undermining her health.

The palace said the decision to get home earlier was taken in Canada and royal aides in London did not know the exact reason.

Under the present program the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh would have embarked on the Britannia at Halifax, Nova Scotia, on Aug. 1.

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — A busy day was arranged for Queen Elizabeth II today but it was not known if she would feel well enough to keep all her engagements.

The young British monarch was smiling and relaxed on arriving here Monday night from the Yukon, where she was forced to skip two days of appearances because of an upset stomach.

Prince Philip, who substituted for his wife, flew from Uranium City, Sask.

Miss Majorette Princess

Connie Benninger, 14 year old Tionesta twirler and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Benninger, of that place, is the new Junior Miss Majorette Princess of Pennsylvania. Connie won her title Saturday at Hershey Park in competition with other majorettes from all over the state.

Being princess makes her eligible for the international Majorette Princess contest, to be held at Indian Lake, Russell Point, O. from August 17 to 20.

The West Forest Joint High School sophomore was judged for beauty, twirling and strutting ability. During the beauty division, she was attired in a party dress.

For a novelty act, Connie was blindfolded while she twirled a fire baton. She then used two batons and a cape for the finale. This competition was judged by the Drum Majorettes of America.

Connie won second place in the eastern contest, also held Saturday at Hershey Park. Her younger sister, Pamela, 10, came in third in her division of the seaboard competition.

Pamela and Connie will represent the state in the national princess and queen contest in Ohio. Runnerup for the state title was Pamela Holtz, of Scranton.

Connie, active in Forest Co. 4-H work, has her own drill team and is instructor of the Tionesta Sailorettes.

Winner of the international contest will be crowned the Jr. Miss Majorette princess and queen for the United States.

Letter From YM Camp

(Note: Following is the first interesting letter from one of our special correspondents with the Warren YMCA boys at Camp Complanter. By special request it is being printed just as written.)

Dear Folks,

We're real busy here at Y-Camp and we're having a swell time. The first night we had a big council fire. They called it the opening campfire. I guess because it was in an opening in the woods. First we all brought a slip of paper with a bad habit that we want to get rid of written on it. Then Mr. Fogel collected the slips and put them on the fire only the fire wasn't going yet. He called for the fire to "descend from heaven" and light the fire. Well it came down all right but it looked like it was coming out of that pine tree. I noticed it was on a wire and it slid down real fast and lighted the fire. Our slips were on the fire and soon as it started to burn they burned up and the smoke was blown away by the wind. Our bad habits were supposed to go away with the wind too. That is we were supposed to think about getting rid of them and by the end of the week we are supposed to be better or something. I don't have any bad habits. I think I could think of so I put one of the boys who sleeps next to me. I put down his habit of snoring. Gee I hope it works we'll all be happier. After this Mr. Fogel called on the great Indian to appear. This real tall Indian jumped out of the bushes and talked to us and told us a story. I don't think he was a real Indian because he had red hair and freckles and I heard Mr. Riedel call him Mr. Cameron when he was whispering to him. We sang some neat camp songs and were introduced to all the chiefs who told us what we are going to be doing this week. It sure sounds like a lot to do. I'm sure with Indian Day coming up with Indian Day and Cookout Day and Skit Night and a big Water Carnival at the end of the week. Guess I'd better sign off now. I'm writing this under the covers with my flashlight and I don't want my chief to catch me. Hope you can read this all right.

So long for now,
Johnny

Gunman Secures $5,000 In Loan Office Holdup

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A gunman sporting a curled mustache took an estimated $5,000 from a cashier at Parks Savings and Assn. Monday, then calmly walked through a door opened for him by the head teller.

The holdup was staged so quietly that none of the other employees knew about it until afterward.

Head teller Eugene F. Chapla, who was returning from lunch, met the robber inside the building. Unaware that a holdup occurred, Chapla politely opened the door for the bandit and watched him walk away.

Moments earlier, the gunman had taken the $5,000 in cash from a cashier, Mrs. Mildred A. Walsh, stuffed it into a small plaid bag, then calmly headed for the exit.

PLCB Employees Gain Their First Fringe Benefits

Continuation of five years of effort on the part of the Independent Association of PLCB Employees came this week when payroll deductions were made from pay checks to cover Blue Cross and Blue Shield costs. The deductions are to cover payment of hospitalization beginning August 1.

In line with fringe benefits enjoyed by most private industry employees, the state store workers' association will continue its efforts to have the Commonwealth pay at least a part of these costs. Legislation will be necessary to accomplish this matter and is a part of the legislative program being pushed by the association.

Other phases of the current program include bills in the legislature for hold-up insurance for store workers, and amendments to existing retirement, Social Security and Civil Service laws.

Further legislative action will be discussed at a meeting of the executive board of the association, to be held at York August 15-16. Attending from northwestern Pennsylvania will be the state secretary, Robert Brant, of Titusville; vice presidents, Francis Burgoon, of Erie, and L. N. Schuler, Warren.

nate tax solution.

"There will still be a day when the tax problem must be resolved," he said, and indicated that the 4 per cent sales tax would be revised. "Neither party can get any political mileage out of this tax deadlock."

The sales tax bill, never brought to the vote for which it was scheduled last Wednesday, would increase the rate from 3 1/2 per cent to 4 per cent and would raise 146 1/2 million dollars in two years.

Coverage would be expanded to include beer, liquor, automobile inspection sticker fees, soft drinks, and laundry and dry cleaning services.

Other legislative developments: Justices of the Peace—The Senate defeated, 11-35, a proposed constitutional amendment that would in effect sharply reduce the number of justices of the peace and alderman in Pennsylvania and provide that the remainder be paid salaries instead of fees.

Gubernatorial Succession—By a 34-14 the Senate passed legislation revising the State Constitution to allow the governor to succeed himself. The measure went to the House. At present, there is a one-term limit, although a governor may run again after an intervening term.

Debt Limit — The Senate also gave its approval and sent to the House a suggested constitutional revision removing the Commonwealth's antiquated million-dollar debt limit and raising the debt limit of municipalities and school districts. It also would prohibit the sale of bonds by the General State Authority unless approved by the people.

Plumbing Board—The House defeated, 74-55, a measure to regulate home plumbing on a state-wide basis. A state plumbing board would have been set up to draft regulations. It would have required that all plumbing work—even changing a faucet washer—be inspected by a state official.

Stopgap Appropriations—A package of 236 million dollars in stopgap appropriations to finance state operations and public assistance reached the House.

Taxes—The compromise tax fell apart in a welter of political charges and counter-charges last week when 15 lawmakers in the 35-member Philadelphia Democratic delegation withheld their support of the program. Then, 15 House Republicans who had pledged to back the plan withdrew their votes.

Rep. James J. Dougherty (R-Phila.) revealed Monday that the Philadelphia dissidents opposed the tax plan as obnoxious.

"It was so obnoxious that there weren't enough votes for it," he said. "Let's put the taxes on people better able to pay."

Dougherty is drafting legislation to raise 235 million dollars by doubling the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities, increasing the 6 per cent corporate net income tax to 10 per cent and removing the corporate net income tax exemptions enjoyed by mutual savings banks and life insurance firms.

The Dougherty program was given little chance. Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said he was against it because of the effect it would have on what he described as Pennsylvania's increasingly better business climate.

Times Have Changed

Nothing like keeping up with the times. Members of Jamestown council at last night's session, decided it was about time they did something about the antiquated Police, Dance and Disorderly Persons ordinance which included among other things, swimming without a bathing suit in the Cheshawtsburg river, and prohibiting dancing the "shimmy" and the "bunny hug" a ban adopted in the jazz-crazed 1920's. Both are now legal.

Her stepfather, Clifford Case, found her unconscious - form beside the washer, shortly after the accident.

To Fracture Well

Titusville Herald: The 12-year-old test well in Richmond Township will be fractured today for the second time. The owner is hopeful of increasing production from a depth of about 3,000 feet. The well was drilled in Richmond Township, nine miles south of Cambridge Springs, by Harry Faber White of Cambridge Springs RD 1, and the late Col. George W. Bean of Washington. The tools stuck at 4,300 feet and the well stood idle until earlier this year. During the drilling a good showing of oil was found in the Helderberg limestone, several hundred feet above the tools. This was fractured on June 8 this year. The well pumps oil for barrel a day; the rest of the time pumping water. The owner-operator is the Cosmos Gas & Oil Corporation, Oil City, managed by Vernon R. Stephens. The hydrofracturing will be done by the Halliburton firm with 8,000 gallons.

Owner of Runway On Property Near Kane Is Stricken

Kane Republican: A Kane man hacked out by hand a 2,000 foot airstrip through brush and fields at his rural property near Kane to provide an emergency landing spot for light aircraft before completion of the huge Bradford-McKean airport near Mt. Alton, died at the edge of his airstrip Friday, mowing grass. He was "Jack" Covert, known to hundreds of airmen through this region for more than a score of years—pilots who oftentimes "chased him" off the runway as they buzzed the field in a friendly greeting.
As many as five planes in a day landed at that airstrip and local area flyers knew it, well—a strip a few hundred feet wide that Jack cut, mowed and dragged to keep in condition "just in case," as he put it. Some of the planes that dropped down were out of fuel. Some pilots were lost and making emergency landings. Others came in to take Jack for a ride. Hunters from metropolitan areas would drop in, park their planes and head for the nearby forest.
The airstrip was not on any map. It had no lighting and it was not "official" but Jack was saving up wiring to give the field an outline when the big Bradford-McKean airport a few miles to the north relieved him of "that responsibility."
There were a few mishaps—minor. C. W. Cowden, local machine shop operator, dumped his trainer plane into a pile of brush at the edge of the runway one day. Another time a couple of young Buffalo, N. Y. hunters hung their light plane in a tree within a few feet of the Covert residence as they took off from the runway covered by a heavy wet snow. Fred Halling used the strip regularly and many other local men used the field while receiving instruction—or "getting in a few hours."
Mr. Covert, who was born Oct. 5, 1896, at Marienville, came to Kane to reside in 1913. He was employed at the American Window Glass Co. factory originally and later worked as a foreman at the Holgate Bros. Co. plant for many years. He was employed at the Knox Glass Co. warehouse here.
He was a member of the First Methodist Church. He belonged to and took an active

Veterans News

Here's VA's 8-point check list for an estimated several thousand Korea veterans in Western Pennsylvania planning to start school in the fall under the Korean GI Bill:
Since the law allows a veteran to change his GI course only once, he should give plenty of thought, in advance, to his goal and to the training program leading to his goal.
If he is undecided about what to train for, he may ask for VA vocational counseling.
He should be sure that his course has been GI-approved by the State in which the school is located. The VA regional office at 107 Sixth St., Pittsburgh 22, Pa. can furnish information about approved courses.
He should make all his own arrangements for gaining admission to his school before he even files his application with VA.
The GI training application should be completely filled out and signed. The veteran should send it, along with a photostat or certified copy of his separation paper, to the VA regional office, 107 Sixth St., Pittsburgh 22, Pa.
The application should get to VA as soon as possible. This will enable VA to smooth out any snags before school begins.
A veteran with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when VA asks for it. For a wife, this would be a photostat of the marriage certificate; for a child a photostat of the birth certificate.
A veteran should take along enough money of his own to tide him over the first two months of training. It takes about that long, ordinarily, for his first monthly GI check to reach him.

Aid of Police Chiefs Sought in Obscene Drive

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Michael J. Eagen of Lackawanna County has urged state police chiefs to support enactment of laws that would control the output of "obscene and sacrilegious" movies.
Judge Eagen, the Democratic candidate for State Supreme Court, made the appeal Monday in a speech at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Assn.
Referring to a recent Supreme Court ruling which voided state laws against such movies, Judge Eagen said:
"I hope and pray that nobody will question the constitutionality of the Ten Commandments of the State Supreme Court because I don't know what would happen."

News of Hollywood

AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two young men, neither angry nor beat, are showing Hollywood how to do the ultimate in home movies.
Leslie Stevens is shooting a full-scale feature in his own house and the house next door. He's directing the script he wrote and the star is his wife, Kate Manx. And he's co-producing with his former agent, Stanley Colbert.
The Stevens residence was buzzing with activity just like a movie set. It isn't exactly a do-it-yourself movie; 30 crew members were helping to put it together.
Stevens introduced him self. He's 35, blond, well-fed and assured (who needs modesty in the movie business?). Colbert strolled over. Also assured, he's 32 and dark.
They explained that they had some time to kill between assignments at 20th Century-Fox.
"We decided to use the time to make a movie," explained Stevens.
ens. "It seemed like the best way to learn."
Stevens won a playwright contest at 15, has written four Broadway plays, many for TV, one movie. So it was no problem for him to knock out a script. He chose the classic pattern of a family in jeopardy.
The story concerns a couple of hipsters who are out to get a Hollywood housewife (Mrs. Stevens). They spot her at the beach and follow her home, moving into the vacant house next door.
"There's actually little violence in the script," said Stevens. "The suspense comes out of the constant threat of violence."
Neither would disclose the cost of the film, which they're calling "Private Property." But with a cast of five and a 10-day schedule, you can bet that it's reasonable.
Before returning to his multiple labors, Stevens remarked: "If the picture turns out bad, we'll play it in our bathroom at 16 mm. If it's good, we might have a very good investment."

CIRCUS AT OIL CITY

According to The Derrick nearly 3,000 persons, young and old alike, attended Saturday afternoon's performance at the Hagen Bros. "big top" in the West end at that place. Optimist Club officials said at least that number took in the evening performance as well.

World's annual diamond production would fill about 75 bushel baskets. Most diamonds are mined in South Africa.
